A lesson of that culture. Human history remains incomplete without a discussion or explanation of the links that sport establishes between agriculture and culture, matter and thought, society and individual, village and city. This is why the history of sports is now one of the subjects of history or scholarship. Hence its honorable inclusion in the curriculum. The development of the state and the origin of sports can be seen in the history of India or the history of the world. Almost parallel events. Sports diplomacy is an essential tool of state diplomacy. In the Mahabharata, the struggle for statehood began with a game of dice. Also in the Greek epic Iliad, after Patroclus is killed in battle with Hector, Achilles organizes athletic competitions. Since then, the spirit of the state and the nation has been connected with the game. - Duration of the Course : 30 Hours

- Resource Person Attended :

The Course is being taught by the faculty members of our College –

- Mr. Anupam Das, Assistant Professor, Dept. of History.
- Miss. Santwana Ghosh, Faculty, Dept. of History.
- Mr. Ayan Chakraborty, Faculty, Dept. of History.

- Content Summary :

- History is about man, his time, his society and culture. Time moves forward through competition and conflict. That conflict is seen in war, in politics, in livelihood, in thought, and even in sports. But in terms of significance, sports are by no means comparable to others. Sports sweat, but never blood. That's why many people are addicted to brutal games. There is competition in sports, but the goal should not be to win by any means. It is through competition that the game gets its sense of celebration, which in ancient Greece was called 'Agon'. Sporting mind, in English called 'Sportsman Spirit', gives birth to a new sense of life. In that sense, 'crying laughter swinging poush fagun's turn' this life becomes a comedy theater by breaking the fence of all selfish biology. There is jealousy and hatred, politics and economics, gain and deprivation, happiness and sorrow, victory and defeat, but beyond all this there is the pursuit of infinite generosity. The dynamics of the game and the endgame are what enrich the creative culture. History is the lesson of that culture. Human history remains incomplete without a discussion or explanation of the links that sport establishes between agriculture and culture, matter and thought, society and individual, village and city. This is why the history of sports is now one of the subjects of history or scholarship. Hence its honorable inclusion in the curriculum. The development of the state and the origin of sports can be seen in the history of India or the history of the world. Almost parallel events. Sports diplomacy is an essential tool of state diplomacy. In the Mahabharata, the struggle for statehood began with a game of dice. Also in the Greek epic Iliad, after Patroclus is killed in battle with Hector, Achilles organizes athletic competitions. Since then, the spirit of the state and the nation has been connected with the game. So Department of History of Purbasthali College introduce an Add-on Course on History of Sports of India and Whole world.

Content Summary :

- Environment is the most talked about topic in recent times. Environmentalism today is both an active movement and a subject of vigorous commerce. No other movement in the world has involved so many people. Water is a commodity today in a consumerist economy. In the future, pure clean air may become a commodity. The modern-day worries and concerns about the environment that have plagued the earth are due to global pollution, which is sure to result in global warming and erosion of ozone layer. Industrial revolution on the one hand gave the gift of a better and more comfortable world as well as caused the degradation of the environment. The Western world began to think which resulted in the 1972 Stockholm World Environment Conference. In this context, even though environmental awareness in the modern sense did not develop in ancient India but an extraordinary kinship between nature and man developed. The extent and spread of their nature consciousness was very wide. In Samkhya philosophy, the universe was thought of as being composed with 'Panchabhuta'. In the Vedic period, it was considered an unforgivable offense to corrupt any entity of nature. Based on this, this course has been created with the aim of finding solutions to the current problems of ancient India.
