Sub: Reporting of the Programme on "Protecting Girl Children From Early Marriage"

Dear Ma'am,

We are pleased to present the findings of the recent survey conducted on "protecting girl children from early marriage" in the adopted village of the college, i.e. in Baidikpara, Purbasthali, Purba Bardhaman. The survey aimed to assess the current status of girl child education, identify barriers hindering access to quality education for girls, and propose measures to address the identified issues.

Survey Methodology:

The survey employed a mixed-methods approach, combining quantitative and qualitative data collection techniques. Quantitative data was gathered through household surveys, while qualitative insights were obtained through focus group discussions and interviews parents, and local people.

Key Findings:

Low Enrollment Rates: The survey revealed low enrollment rates of girls in schools, particularly at the secondary level. Several families cited financial constraints and cultural norms as barriers to sending their daughters to school.

Early Marriage and Dropout Rates: Many girls were found to drop out of school prematurely due to early marriage or family responsibilities, perpetuating a cycle of poverty and illiteracy.

Lack of Awareness: There was a lack of awareness among parents and community members about the importance of girl child education and the long-term benefits it offers.

Infrastructure and Resource Constraints: Some schools in the village lacked adequate infrastructure, including separate toilet facilities for girls, as well as trained teachers and learning materials tailored to girls' needs.

Measures to Address the Issue:

Awareness Campaigns: Conducting awareness campaigns and community meetings to educate parents and community members about the importance of girl child education and the adverse effects of early marriage and dropout.

Scholarships and Financial Assistance: Providing scholarships and financial assistance to economically disadvantaged families to cover school fees, textbooks, and other educational expenses for their daughters.

Infrastructure Development: Improving school infrastructure, including the construction of separate toilet facilities for girls and the provision of necessary learning materials and equipment.

Capacity Building: Organizing training programs and workshops for teachers and community volunteers to enhance their capacity in addressing the unique needs of girl students and creating a supportive learning environment.

Girls' Empowerment Programs: Implementing empowerment programs for girls, including life skills training, career guidance, and mentorship, to build their confidence and resilience and empower them to pursue their educational aspirations.

Parental Engagement: Engaging parents through parent-teacher meetings, counseling sessions, and community forums to garner their support for girls' education and address any misconceptions or cultural barriers.

In conclusion, addressing the barriers to girl child education in the village requires collaborative efforts and sustained interventions. By implementing the proposed measures in collaboration with the local Purbasthali Gram Panchayat and other stakeholders, an environment can be created where every girl would get an opportunity to access quality education and realize her full potential.

Thank you for your attention to this matter. We look forward to your support and collaboration in implementing the proposed measures for the benefit of the community.

Sincerely,
